Do you have a product, or products, that you either use, or sell, and believe that they could be produced considerably cheaper than you are currently paying for them? If so, then you are probably correct, and you need to read the following information.

Excite Imports has been set up to provide the following to businesses located anywhere in the world:

A) Consultancy Services

We have found that there are a large number of businesses - from small > very large - who believe they are paying excessive prices for either complete products and/or individual components of products. The excessive prices are quite often as a result of the high labour content involved in the manufacture of these components. Many companies would therefore like to investigate the opportunities of having these same items manufactured offshore where the labour cost is considerably lower but the quality remains at a high level. However, they do not have either the contacts, or the time, to permit them to adequately investigate the possibilities. At Excite Imports we have numerous contacts in Asia and China in particular, and using these sources we can provide information on how best to find the products you require, and we can even assist in obtaining your prices and samples if required.

B) Sourcing

In addition to our consultancy services, we can also offer the sourcing arm of our business. This is to provide information, pricing and import details on products currently in production in Asia. This could be anything from a telephone cord > hinges > metal brackets > valves > engine parts > shelving > basically anything you can think of, from the smallest item, right up to heavy machinery and equipment.

C) Manufacturing

If we cannot source your exact product, then Excite Imports can also offer the complete package, from consultancy right through to Design assistance > Manufacturing > Importing & Customs Clearance facilities.

These services are offered to companies who would like to gain what should be a great advantage by purchasing either components or complete finished products offshore thus reducing your costs.

If you are interested in looking into this further then we have an Information Pack we can post out to you which will provide more detail on how the above processes operate and give a few examples of products that can be made offshore - If you would like one of our FREE Information Packs, please E-Mail your Name, Position, Company Name, Postal Address and a brief description of your requirements and we will be pleased to send one out.

If you have any questions regarding any of the Excite Imports services offered then please E-Mail us (or Phone) and we will be happy to elaborate.

Kindest regards
